Plastic Tank Radiators

Uniquely designed plastic tank radiators with aluminum core offer over a 22% gross weight savings to comparable aluminum tank radiators when filled with coolant. These performance radiators also provide 6% better cooling than aluminum tank radiators. Tanks are fastened to the core with multi-clamps and an o-ring gasket, a process similar in design to many of today's high performance late model muscle cars. Corrosion resistant tanks have molded in 1-1/2" inlet and 1-3/4" beaded hose outlets. Widths are overall including tanks.

Carb Defender For Small Engine

The use of Ethanol in modern pump fuel increases the risk of carburetor fuel system corrosion. Ethanol is hygroscopic, so it absorbs moisture, causing corrosion in both the fuel system and inside the engine. These problems are compounded by long term vehicle storage. Carb Defender utilizes special corrosion inhibitors to prevent costly repairs and poor performance caused by Ethanol blended gasoline and the moisture it attracts. 1 oz. packet treats 5 gallons.
